Doing	Card declined at the pump. Pays R1,250 for diesel himself.	Remembers the Relay link sent by the depot. Opens it on his phone.	Signs in with his work email and password.	Types subject and what happened, picks City Deep.	Sees reference KF-261022-0417, sent to Finance.	Drives his route. Relay classifies it; an agent opens it.	At lunch, opens My requests.	Reads Finance’s reply: submit the slip, refund on the 25th.
Thinking	“Will I get this money back?”	“Who even handles fuel cards?”	“Hope I remember the password.”	“Quick, three fields.”	“Good, it’s with the right people.”	“Has anyone seen it?”	“Okay, it’s moving.”	“Sorted. I know what to do.”
Feeling higher = better
Relay screen	None yet	Phone browser	Sign in	Submit request	Request sent	Behind the scenes	My requests	Request detail
Pain point	Out of pocket, on a deadline	Used to message a WhatsApp group	Forgotten passwords	Typing on a small screen	None	Silence feels like nothing is happening	Doesn’t want to call the office	None
How Relay helps	One place to report it, any time	No need to know the right team	Clear error and help line on screen	Only three fields, big buttons	Reference number and department shown	Status changes he can check	Status in words: Received, Answered	Reply and status history in one place
